RESOURCES FOR PARENTS
A PARENT’S GUIDE TO VIRTUAL INSTRUCTION

Do you need help with your child’s virtual learning experience?

The Devereux Center for Effective Schools (CES) is dedicated to building the capacity of schools and other child-serving institutions to better serve youth with – and at risk for developing – emotional and behavioral disorders by promoting effective practices, informed by scientific evidence, to improve lives.

As part of its services, the CES is now offering brief, online training modules to help parents engage their children in today’s new world of remote instruction. The “Parents’ Guide to Virtual Instruction: How to Support Your Child” training tool focuses on strategies parents can use to manage remote instruction from home. Modules include strategies to prevent (e.g., set rules), teach (e.g., use problem solving strategies) and respond (e.g., use rewards) to children’s various behaviors.

Our Remote Instruction Modules:
1. Introduction
2. Attending and Ignoring
3. Rules and Expectations
4. Agendas and Routines
5. Effective Requests
6. Transitions
7. Rewards
8. Consequences
9. Problem Solving
10. Communicating with My Child’s School
